Electrical Systems & Lighting Control
Home Energy Management & Audio/Video

We are a full service partner for the construction and design community

Metro Eighteen is a premier provider of electrical and low voltage construction services, with over 25 years of installation and building experience. We are equipped to provide professional guidance during pre-construction phases. By engaging with us from the start of a project, our industry expertise can help our clients avoid many of the pitfalls that would otherwise be unclear until well within the construction phase. Drawing on a wealth of industry knowledge and hands-on experience, we offer the following services to architects, design professionals & builders.

- + Electrical Engineering
- + Lighting Control
- + Audio/Video/Communication
- + Home Theater & Acoustical Engineering
- + Home Automation

We offer the following deliverables:

- Schematic & Functional Drawings
- Coordination Details for Millwork
- Product Specification
- Budgetary Analysis/Value Engineering/Biddable Packages

Our involvement in the preconstruction phase will provide unique advantages to your project that ensure a positive & valuable experience through the duration of construction.
